Are you looking for a tool that can organize your voice mail and personal contact information while directing all or selected calls to your current location? The Unified Communicator is your solution. Increase the productivity in your organization with this browser-based interface to your Axxess by Inter-Tel or Eclipse by Inter-Tel systems.

Unified Communicator streamlines communications:

- Control how and when you may be reached
 - Route all calls to your current location
 - Forward your calls to a specified phone number
- Integrate all your communication tools with forward paths to
 - Cell Phones
 - Pagers
 - Voice mail
 - Alternate numbers
- Access information within your browser interface from virtually anywhere to
 - Monitor other colleagues
 - Click to initiate calls

When you are unable to access your browser, you can access the system "hands free" through a speech-enabled user interface. With simple voice commands, you can place calls, check messages, change your location and update your availability status. You can even place calls by simply stating your colleague's name—so no more fumbling to find phone numbers.
